

Pitt Meadows Airpark

Designed by aviators for aviators, the Pitt Meadows Airpark is a state of the art facility located on apron 5 in the northwest corner of YPK (Pitt Meadows regional Airport).

Created by Lennie and Wightman Construction, it is the epitome of functional design and detailed aesthetics. As well being located in a convenient area of the Lower Mainland, YPK is in close vicinity to any point within the greater Vancouver Regional District. The new Golden Ears Bridge is just a few minutes away, facilitating easy connection to Delta, Langley, Surrey, the U.S border and TransCanada Highway No. 1. From YPK you easily connect to Seattle, Whistler, Vancouver Island, Northern and Central B.C, Alberta and Alaska. A railway station is located only five minutes away from the airport. Have a float plane? YPK also features a float dock ramp with a water runway on the Fraser River. Lastly and Conveniently, the Aero Club of BC is underway in the construction of a new fuel facility located at the Pitt Meadows Airpark's southeast corner.
